

Psycho-Social

To us, „psycho-social“ or social psychiatry means placing the care of severely mentally ill people and the social dimension of the development, consequences, and treatment of mental illness at the centre of psychiatric care. Mental illnesses take place in the midst of society, and their treatment should therefore also take place in the midst of society – low-threshold and close to home – and in all areas of life.

The Institutions

- Social Psychiatry Outpatient Clinics with day care units
- Psychiatric emergency assistance (Social Psychiatric Emergency Service, Mobile Psychiatric Crisis Service, Psychosocial Information)
- Child and Adolescent Outpatient Clinics with day care units
- Centre for Gerontological Psychiatry
- Institute for Psychotherapy with day care unit for borderline disorders
- Institute for Psychiatric Early Rehabilitation
- Social psychiatry for people with disabilities and autism centre – SOMBA
- Consultation services and psychiatric liaison services to Vienna’s homeless, refugee, and child/youth services.

We look forward to you continuing along this path together with us – for all people with mental illness – and to welcoming you to the PSD-Wien team soon!
